GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL PROVIDING FOR HARBOR DISTRICT'S FORMATION

City Attorney Mansfield, Author of Bill, and Mayor Stafford See Governor Add Official Signature

The bill drafted by City Attorney Albert Mansfield and introduced into the State Legislature by Assemblyman Harry Parkman of this county, was signed this week by Governor Rolph. The signing of the bill by the governor was witnessed by Mayor D. R. Stafford of Redwood City and City Attorney Albert Mansfield. The pen with which the measure was signed was presented to the governor by Mayor Stafford.

The harbor measure was arranged by City Attorney Mansfield for the purpose of creating a harbor district here, and was originally designed for that purpose alone. It was later revised to make it applicable to any harbor district. It provides that any county or portion of a county, any city or portion of a city, or more than one city, with or without a portion of unincorporated territory, may become incorporated as a harbor district, provided that there is contained within its confines, a harbor which may be improved.

The bill provides for the formation of the district, for holding elections for harbor commissioners, for their compensation, and for the duties of the commissioners.

A meeting of the Citizens Harbor Development Committee will be held in the near future with H. W. Crozier, engineer in charge of the harbor survey. This committee will consider the plans for the formation of a district for the improvement of the harbor here. It has been suggested that such a district should include the harbor frontage from Belmont to the county line on the south.

A hearing will be held with the engineers of the War Department on July 15th, when the needs of the Redwood City harbor will be presented by the committee and by Crozier.

PREPARATIONS FOR CONCERTS UNDER WAY

W. Damrosch Will Conduct Rehearsals for First Concert

Preparations for the sixth season of open air concerts to be given on Sunday afternoons during the summer in the Woodland Theatre at Hilsborough under the auspices of the Philharmoic Society of San Mateo County are now under way.

Following the close of the Hillsborough district school on the grounds of which the theatre is located, the task of getting the theatre in shape for the summer concerts was started immediately so that it would be completed in ample time before the first concert on Sunday, June 21, which is one week earlier than last year.

A complete new awning covering which will protect practically the entire theatre area has been assembled during the winter and will be placed in position within the week. As several thousand yards of burlap are required for this awning, and it all must be stitched in one piece before it is erected at the theatre on the supporting framework, several days are required to complete the job.

As in former seasons, the members of the Hillsborough Garden Club are active in furnishing and arranging the shrubbery and the various plant decorations which are utilized to enhance the effect of the natural beauty which surrounds this out-door theatre. The charm of the setting is greatly improved through the valued efforts of the Garden Club members, and it is so skillfully accomplished that the additions give the impression of being a permanenut part of the theatre.

Walter Damrosch, who because of his weekly concerts broadcast over a national chain of radio stations is known as "the man who waves a baton over America," will arrive early next week and commence rehearsals in preparation for the first concert. The great interest which has been manifested since the first announcement of his engagement for the summer concerts has lead to anticipation of a capacity audience for the opening program.

HELD AS DRUNK DRIVER

R. F. Parriott, 36, a salesman, was arrested by Officer H. J. Fitzgerald of Redwood City police department and is charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

Start Work on Sunnyvale Base

Actual construction work was started on the Sunnyvale dirigible base this week, when workmen began the preparation of concrete piles which will be driven to test the foundation for the giant dirigible hangar which will house the dirigible now nearing completion in the Goodyear works at Akron, Ohio. Machinery is being unloaded at the base and a surveying crew is staking out a route for a spur track from the main line of the Southern Pacific to the air base. It is stated that the spur track will be ready for use by July 15th.

These works are preliminary to the actual work of construction, which is being held up pending the acquisition of title to the land by the United States government.

Hearing Set in Water Protest

Residents of Coastside and Others Protest Water Appropriations

The Division of Water Resources will hold a public hearing on June 16th, at 10 a. m., o'clock, in room 520 of State Building, Civic Center, San Francisco, California, on applications of Edith Van Antwerp and Celia Tobin Clark, to appropriate unappropriated water in San Mateo, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties.

The applications are for the appropriation of waters from Peters creek and tributaries, Slate creek, Oil creek and tributary, all being tributaries to Pescadero creek and Pacific ocean and Stevens creek which it tributary to San Francisco bay and San Lorenzo river and tributary which is tributary to Pacific ocean, being within San Mateo, Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties.

These applications involve a total appropriation of 4.5 second feet direct diversion and 2600 acre-feet per annum storage for irrigation, domestic and stock watering purposes on 3500 acres of land about 8 miles southwest of Los Altos.

The applications are protested by the City of Santa Cruz, Board of Supervisors of San Mateo county, City of Mountain View, District Attorney of Santa Clara county, Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District, City of Sunnyvale, Coast Side Civic Union and seventy other appropriators who claim riparian and prior vested rights to the use of said waters.

The protestants allege, in effect, that the approval of the applications will result in substantial injury to them, in that the flow of said streams will be diminished to the extent that their existing rights and use would be seriously impaired.

Hearings before the Division of Water Resources are open to the public and appearances thereat are not limited to parties of record interest in the applications heard.

Everett N. Bryan, hydraulic engineer for the division will act as the examiner.

Three Million To Visit West Coast in 1932

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11, (UP)—More than 3,000,000 delegates visitors and tourists, including many of the nation's most noted economic leaders, will visit California in 1932.

Some 10,000 delegates are expected for the convention of the national chamber when it is held in San Francisco next year, Cutler said.

In addition, the Rotary International convention in Seattle; the Olympic games in Los Angeles; the conference of business leaders of 11 western states, Hawaii, China, Japan and Australia; and the mobilization of the United States fleet at San Diego and San Pedro, when 175 ships carrying 50,000 officers and men will be assembled, will all bring many persons to California.

Cutler further stated that the Republican and Democratic national conventions might be held here. Cleveland is the only competitor for the Democratic conclave, he declared, while the G.O.P. meet is practically assured.

Frank M. Windyow was arrested by Officer Grafance of San Carlos, Wednesday niyht, on a charge of driving an automobile in a reckless manner and with possession of liquor. He was booked at the county jail on the two charges, and bail was fixed by City Judge Albert Mansfield, at $50 cash or $100 bond. He was still in jail yesterday.

Site in Mountains Near Lake Considered Better Than Coastside Ranch

The sites considered by San Francisco as possible locations for the proposed San Francisco jail are "out" according to reports from San Francisco this week. It is stated that the present choice of the San Francisco jail site committee is the Sneath ranch. This tract of land lying a short distance north of San Andreas lake of the San Francisco water supply, can be reached from the Skyline road. It is considerably closer to San Francisco than the Casanelli ranch south of Halfmoon Bay, which was the choice of the six sites considered by the San Francisco supervisors.

Plans Adventure In Frozen North

BOSTON, June 11 (U.P.)—Commander Donald B. MacMillan, famed explorer, tonight outlined plans for his 14th expedition into the far north aboard the veteran Arctic schooner Bowdoin.

Addressing members of the Propeller Club at a banquet, MacMillan revealed that he planned to set sail from this port on either June 18 or 19. The Bowdoin, he said, will be brought from Provincetown next Wednesday to be groomed for the long voyage.

Among the stores to be taken aboard the schooner here will be equipment for the establishment of dental clinics for the eskimos of Labrador. School supplies for the Eskimo school which he set up on recent expeditions to the northland also will be included.

MacMillan said the monoplane "Viking," with which he hopes to map out a transatlantic airplane route between New York and London, by way of Labrador and Iceland will be taken along.

The explorer said he hoped to accumulate additional data to make clear his theory that the Arctic regions once, perhaps thousands of years ago, were fertil lands.

Funeral Tomorrow For Mrs. Higgins

Mrs. Annie Higgins, wife of Leland S. Higgins of 1122 Jefferson avenue, passed away at the Community hospital in Beresford, Wednesday night, following a short illness. In addition to her husband, Mrs. Higgins is survived by four sons, Charles R. and Fred L. Higgins of Richmond, California, and Lester and Robert of Redwood City, and one daughter, Mrs. Nellie Connor, also of this city. Two sisters, Mrs. Eugene Peirce of Oakland and Mrs. Frank Clark of Richmond, also survive.

Mrs. Higgins was a native of California and was 58 years of age.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the Layng & Tinney Funeral Home and the interment will be in Mt. View cemetery, Oakland.

Legislature May Hold Water Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal, June 11—(UP)—Favoring a special session of the state legislature for the consideration of the state's water problem, the state chamber of commerce has opened an extensive campaign to eliminate any further delay in the matter.

According to F. J. Koster, chamber president, local groups throughout the state are aiding in the collection of data concerning a coordinated mater conservation plan which would be acceptable to the entire state rather than a single district.

It is hoped that action can be taken to permit the problem to be voted on at the next general election.

Dr. Carl Warner Sent to Nevada

Rev. Rudkin Returned Here By Methodist District Conference

Rev. Jesse R. Rudkin, pastor for the past year of the First Methodist church of this city, has been returned to this charge by the Northern California Conference, which closed in San Jose, Wednesday. During his pastorate in this city Rev. Rudkin has become very popular, and his friends were pleased to learn that he has again been selected as pastor of the local church.

Very few changes were made in the pastors assigned to Northern California charges by the conference this year, by reason of the fact that a large part of the time of the conference was taken up with other matters.

One change was made in this county, however, as Dr. Carl Warner, who for the past two years has been pastor of the church at Burlingame, has been sent to Reno, Nev., to succeed Dr. A. J. Chase, who has been sent to Richmond, California.

Dead Body Found In S. M. City Park

Man Believed To Have Been Killed by Drinking Bad Whiskey

Believed by police to have been a victim of bad liquor, a man was found dead in the city park of San Mateo early Wednesday morning. The body was discovered lying face down on the grass of the park by Antone Vildes of San Mateo, who was passing through the park. Near the body was a flask which the police declared had contained whiskey.

The police were notified and a search of the man's possessions were made to determine his identity. The only name found on the body was on a slip from a jewelry firm in Santa Barbara, guaranteeing a diamond ring which had been purchased. It is thought from this that the man may be Hassard of Santa Barbara. An effort is being made to establish his identity.

Two of the outstanding aspirants for the position are Franklin Swart, district attorney of this county for the past 19 years, and Paul A. It is claimed for Swart that he has the backing of all members of the San Mateo County Bar Association with the exception of two.

WESTERN PACIFIC SEEKS DELAY FOR PENINSULAR ROAD

Another Six Months Extension in Time Set To Start Work on Line Here Asked; Bridge Settlement Given as Reason

The Western Pacific California Railroad Company applied today to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a six months' extension of the time required for the beginning of construction of the Niles-Redwood City-San Francisco all-rail line and a like extension of the time in which the work must be completed.

The application states that the extension of time is necessary to conclude negotiation for the joint use of the Southern Pacific Company's Dumbarton bridge and the tracks adjacent thereto, and says that the negotiations between the two companies are progressing satisfactorily but have not been concluded.

One of the conditions of the report and order of the Interstate Commerce Commission authorizing the construction is that the line between San Francisco and Redwood City shall not be operated until the Western Pacific has a continuous line from San Francisco to Niles. In addition, it is stated in the application that further time is required to negotiate the purchase of necessary rights of way, also joint use of the Quint Street line in the vicinity of Islais Creek, San Francisco.

It will be recalled that the order of the Interstate Commerce Commission provides that the proposed bridge across San Francisco Bay and the trackage on each side thereof between Redwood City and Niles may be constructed only in case the Western Pacific is unable to obtain from the Southern Pacific Company trackage rights over the Dumbarton bridge and the adjacent trackage of that company on terms subject to the approval of the commission.

It is also stated that the Western Pacific desires to construct the entire line between San Francisco and Niles, or between San Francisco and Redwood City. Under one contract and it is pointed out that the location of the line, in part, is dependent upon whether or not the Dumbarton bridge of the Southern Pacific is to be used.

The Western Pacific California Railroad Company is a subsidiary of The Western Pacific Railroad Company and was formed to construct the new line of railroad.

Suits for $16,702 have been filed in the superior court here by John Forsythe, his wife, Ethel, and his daughter Mary. The suits are the result of an automobile accident which occurred in Burlingame on April 24. The defendant in the suit is the Green Top Cab Co., of Burlingame.

It is alleged that Mr. and Mrs. Forsythe and their daughter were injured when a cab of the defendant company ran into a car driven by Alex McPherson in which the Forsythes were riding. The defendants in addition to the cab company are Alex McPherson and J. H. and Marguerite McPherson, his parents, and Elmer Beauchamp, driver of the cab.

Forsythe asks $9202 for injuries to his wife, and $7500 for injuries to their daughter.

Antenna Breaks Glass

Change Made in Air Field Name

Mills Field, so called from the Mills estate upon which it was located, and for the original owner of the estate, D. O. Mills, has been renamed. The field is now known as the San Francisco Municipal Airport. The change of name was made by the board of supervisors this week. The supervisors at the same meeting pledged their co-operation to the Century-Pacific Air Lines, Inc., a new trans-continental line which is seeking the use of the San Francisco field as a western terminus.

EXPOSITION BUILDING TO BE ERECTED

San Francisco and San Mateo counties will have a half-million dollar exposition building provided half of that amount can be privately subscribed in these two counties. A bill authorizing the appropriation by the State of $250,000 for this project has been signed by the governor. The bill provides that the money expended by the State must be matched by subscriptions from the two counties.

The building is intended as an exposition building and agricultural and live stock centre, and will be located on a site not yet determined, but possibly near the county line. The plans are for a large building suitable for agricultural and live stock shows, and capable of holding 30,000 persons.

The signing of the bill followed a three-hour hearing in which many persons from this county and San Francisco were present. The bill was strongly opposed by Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance. It was supported by Leland Cutler, president of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and Senator Roy Fellom, by whom it was introduced into the Legislature.

In signing the bill Governor Rolph stated that the administration had pledged itself to sign the bill should it pass the Legislature, and that he could do nothing else but sign it. He declared that Vangergrift had favored the bill and had even promised it his support.

Map at left shows the 17 cities included in the hookup. When the network is set up and working, two minutes after the commission of a crime a 100-word summary of the details in typewritten form is in the hands of all 17 police departments in the hookup. The California network will be second largest in the U. S. and will represent a cost of $173,000.

Schools Must Prepare Youth

The public schools have the responsibility of preparing the youth to meet the changing conditions of the social order, writes William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, in an article in the United States Daily. He urged that teachers prepare their pupils to meet and successfully cope with the problems with which they will be faced in life. The article reads, in part:

"Obviously, in a civilization changing so rapidly, as is the present, the teacher's most valuable contribution to his pupils consists in showing them how to face problems fearlessly and attack them scientifically.

"But he will also need to make some additions to their usual equipment. Surveying the age in which he lives himself, he must select those trends which seem most significant and help his charges to develop in their youth those habits and attitudes which will serve them in good stead in their adult years.

"In the past such leisure time as a civilization has been able to accumulate has been preempted by a special class. There can be little doubt in the minds of students of society about the disposition of such leisure time in the future. The forces of democracy demand that ultimately it be distributed fairly to the advantage of all the people.

"This will be accomplished in part by shortening the working week and the working day. But some of it will also accrue to the youth of the Nation in a longer period of formal education.

"The latter movement will place upon educators the responsibility for working out new methods of teaching and a new curriculum, for education on the secondary and higher levels that have never before been offered to other than a small percentage of the people with brains best adapted to mastering books and a few who can acquire technical manual skill. As new kinds of minds enter the schools new devices in education must be developed.

"It may be asked what would we do with these boys and girls if by legislative enactment we were compelled to take care of all of them in our schools until they were 17, 18, or perhaps even 21 years of age.

"I offer here three suggestions: The educator today must somehow or other keep the young citizen of tomorrow in school.

"First, until he can prepare him better to utilize the leisure time which he will have as an adult.

"Second, to help him establish the habits and acquire the knowledge which will enable him to care properly for his health; and

"Third, to afford him information and the desire to vote intelligently in a social organization which depends on him as a citizen not only of his city, county, state and nation, but in very fact, of the world, and to enable him the better to do his part in soving problems increasingly economic in character and international in scope."

The Little Fellow Loses

Government envelopes with return addresses printed on them, are sold at the same unit price whether the purchaser take five hundred or a million. The loss sustained by the government on small orders is made up by high profits on quantity orders. As a result, private envelope manufacturing concerns can furnish the large consumer printed envelopes at less than the government's figures.

But the small printer is powerless. He would be the natural recipient of the five hundred or one thousand lot orders that large manufacturers would not bother with. It is this kind of business that government competition takes away from him. The government is using all the advantages of its credit and purchasing power, conferred on it by the people, and encroaching on the livelihood of some of its citizens.

Those politicians who are now busy telling us how to bring back prosperity might take time to reflect that one way to bring prosperity to the country printer would be to give him a chance to pursue his business without government competition.

Worship of Appearances

There is a world of human nature in a cartoon recently published by Collier's Weekly. A convict, breaking stone, is shown conversing with a guard. The convict says: "So I had to shoot her sister, too—it wouldn't look right if I didn't." Many of the inexcusable things are not done as a matter of principle but are done so that "it will look right."

Why Not A County Park?

Some years ago the supervisors of this county saw fit to purchase the tract of Redwood timber now known as San Mateo County Memorial Park. We have never heard a complaint about that expenditure. It appears to be one action of the board which pleased everyone. Today the park is attracting a larger and larger number of visitors, and is one of the most thoroughly enjoyed possessions of the county.

There is an aggitation at present for a Redwood City-to-the-Sea highway, a very worthy proposal. But it would be an exceptionally fine idea if with this project the county would consider the purchase of a tract of ocean frontage for a seaside park.

Such a location as Bean Hollow would make an unusually fine park site which with a little development and small cost could be turned into a wonderful pleasure ground. With the building up of the county the open spaces are becoming more and more restricted. We believe, therefore, that it is wise for a county to purchase such tracts now, while the cost is low and develop them gradually as the opportunity arises.

Press Cannot Be Muzzled

A Minnesota law making the publication and circulation of any "malicious, scandalous and defamatory newspaper, magazine or other periodical" a public nuisance, and providing for methods of preventing its publication, has proved to be another good intention gone wrong.

Taking advantage of this law the city police of Minneapolis seized copies of a newspaper, The Staturday Press, that contained an attack upon the administration of Mayor Kunze, and without any legal authority, proceeded to destroy 30,000 copies of a 40,000 edition.

Of course it never was intended that the law should be used as a club to suppress free speech, even though, as was claimed by the Minnesota authorities, the newspaper was more sensational than useful.

The court held that the Minnesota statute was invalid because it violated constitutional rights. The justices pointed out that there are laws to regulate the press when it indulges in "malicious defamation," but that public officials and policemen cannot legally destroy a newspaper property without resorting to the processes of law. For these reasons "the gag law" was declared unconstitutional.

Silver Revival International Issue

Western America should stand squarely behind the proposal to call a conference to find a means of helping the silver mining industry.

Mining destiny is, to a large degree, Western destiny. In several states mining is unequaled as employer, taxpayer and buyer of commodities and services. In a number of others it is among the leaders. And the metal depression is directly reflected in the working and living standards of almost all citizens.

Uncertain silver value is acting as a barrier to stimulated international trade, particularly with those countries which have not adopted the gold standard. Here is an important economic problem that demands decisive and scientific action.

The Greatest of All Vices

Of all the vices of the earth the one that is the most difficult to understand is the vice of gossip. For most crimes we can find some explanation, but for gossip there is no explanation except depravity or insanity. How people can find enjoyment in making life hard for others is one of the eternal mysteries. The slanderous activity of malicious tongues has caused more havoc in the world than any other one viciousness.

Legal Procedure

The ways of legal procedure have always mystified us. Before a trial, lawyers will issue high sounding statements for the newspapers demanding an immediate hearing for their clients. The statements also resound with phrases that they have nothing to conceal and that they are desirous of having all the facts presented.

When the trial opens, these same lawyers will fight tenaciously to bar statements which have been given by their clients under oath in previous proceedings. We can't figure these things out.

Next to carelessness of traffic laws as a cause of automobile and highway accidents comes defective automobiles, and, ranking high in such defects, is worn tires. It is poor economy to travel with worn-out tires, in fact with any part of the car in defective condition. A blowout at great speed is a serious matter.

No man is an utter failure while people still think it worth while to knock him.

Church conference urges ministers to do everything possible to "follow up" the couples they have married. How about putting the marriage fee on the monthly payment plan?

Trust men, and they will be true to you: treat them greatly, and they will show themselves great.—Emerson.

TOMMY FITZGERALD, an old beau of Constance's, sees Sheila and hails her as Constance. Sheila tells him he has made a mistake.

At Southampton Constance leaves the ship as Sheila Allen, with all of Sheila's effects, including her passport.

At Harve, Fitzgerald sees Sheila with Constance's passport and she says she is the heiress, and explains the tourist passage as payment of a bet. A strange woman embraces her as an old friend.

There she receives a message from the Count, who is in Paris.

To escape both Harry and the Count, she feigns illness. Some one informs her aunt in Baden-Baden that her neice is ill. The aunt radios Mr. Kerr, who radios Sheila that he is coming to Paris.

Chapter 19—

The Message

The maid assigned by the manager of the hotel to attend Sheila when she arrived as Constance Kerr, the heiress, had been anything but pleased at the task allotted her.

On other occasions, when Constance had stayed at the Palace, the girl had learned to dread her peppery temper. However, for several days, she had been telling her fellow servants that Mademoiselle was sick or in love or in great anxiety, for was she not most kind, most gentle?

"Not once, not a single time, have she box my ears," said Franchette, when the waiter who brought up the supper-tray asked the maid how she was getting on. "Not one smash' cup — no scoldings."

A few minutes later she was telling herself that she had spoken too soon, for, on reading the radiogram from Constance's father, saying that he had heard of his daughter's illness and was coming to Paris with all possible speed, Sheila gave an exhibition of temper that not even Constance herself could have surpassed.

Fanchette retired to the hall and waited. The various sounds from the bedroom indicated the progress of the storm. That dull thud was a hair-brush against a wall. That crash was the supper-tray hitting the floor as the bedside table was overturned. Miss Kerr had once broken a mirror in a fit of temper. There! She had done it again!

When Fanchette returned to the suite, Sheila was curled up in a chair by the window. "How on earth," she was saying to herself, "can I face Constance Kerr's father? The remarkable likeness that had fooled the Count — who is so interested in Constance's money that he doesn't notice much else — and the few other people I have met certainly can't help me with Mr. Kerr. He will know his own daughter."

She dressed after a bit, for wearing pretty clothes always cheered her up, and stood at a window. The street was crowded with vehicles; the sidewalks were filled with men and women in evening dress. Little open carriages — fiacres, Fanchette had called them, were threading their way through the press of motor-cars. For a few francs one could ride all over beautiful, star-shaped Paris.

"And here am I, a prisoner," Sheila thought. "And I'll be a prisoner until Constance Kerr arrives and releases me from the necessity for this absurd masquerade. For the rest of my life I'll see that there is a proper distance between myself and that girl.

"I may be doing her a great favor by changing places with her, but I'm certainly not doing anything for myself."

Fanchette approached, in a tentative manner, carrying a box of flowers. Sheila lifted a mass of orchids from their tissue-paper wrappings and exclaimed in delight. Then she saw the Count de Bellefonte's card, and she groaned.

A loud, imperative knock at the door sent Fanchette scurrying to the living-room. A moment later Sheila heard her remonstrating with some one whose voice was low, but very determined.

"I tell you I must see her," the intruded was saying. "I have a most important message ——"

Fanchette stormed at him in French, but Sheila, at the mention of a message, lost all caution.

"Who is it?" she cried, hoping that the person at the door might be bringing her some word from Constance.

For answer, an irate young man appeared at the entrance to the sitting-room, despite the efforts of the maid, who tried to shoo him into the hall. Sheila stared at him for a second.

Harry Edmonds! The man Constance Kerr loved! The man she wished she'd married!

"The photographs that she showed me didn't begin to do him justice," thought Sheila.

He was very handsome, as he stood there in evening dress, his blue eyes staring at her.

"I'm lost now," she thought. "He knows that I'm not Constance Kerr."

Then, as he seemed unable to speak, she said, in an excellent imitation of Constance's arrogant tones:

"Why have you crashed in here in the unpardonable fashion? Haven't you learned——"

"Constance," he cried, finding his voice finally, "you simply must explain this thing to me."

"Don't I wish I could," she muttered to herself. Aloud she said: "Suppose you explain yourself."

"I will," he answered hotly, drawing a piece of paper from his waistcoat pocket. "When the papers report you ill and your maid tells me you have measels and can't see any one, why do you telegraph your aunt that the whole thing is a hoax, that you're not ill at all? Haven't you any heart? Are you trying to drive me crazy——"

"Just a moment," interposed Shiela. "In the first place, what do you know about my telegrams to my aunt. Have you been listening at key-holes?"

"No," he retorted, "but I was in the telegraph-office when a girl came in, a while ago, and I heard her say she had a rush message. When the clerk checked it over, he read it back to her, and, as I was standing right there, I couldn't help hearing him. That's how I happened to know about your telegrams to your aunt. Now let's hear your alibi."

"I'll see you tomorrow," said Sheila, fighting for time, "and, if I have decided then to overlook your terrible manners in prying into my business and forcing your way into my suite, I may explain."

Inwardly she was saying: "And I hope I can think up an explanation." She turned and walked to the window. Harry followed her and seized her hand.

"Constance," he pleaded, "don't be angry with me. Didn't you get the letters I wrote you? Why didn't you send me just a line?"

"If you'll go now, I'll answer your question tomorrow," she said.

"Oh, all right," he replied sulkily, and was turning to go, when, for the second time that evening, there was a loud knock at the door, followed by an impatient male voice demanding an audience with Miss Kerr.

Sheila's heart sank. The Count de Bellefonte! He brushed aside Franchette's protests.

"I know Miss Kerr is receiving visitors," Shiela heard him say. "Don't try to stop me."

A moment later he was confronting Sheila and Harry Edmonds. The anger in his face, as he looked at Harry, frightened her; for the Count she realized, believed her to be his wife. Breathlessly she waited for him to speak.

Place your finger on your Adam's Apple. You are actually touching your larynx—this is your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. When you consider your Adam's Apple, you are considering your throat—your vocal chords.

What is the effect of modern Ultra Violet Rays upon tobacco? Dr. E. E. Free, one of America's well-known scientists, who was retained by us to study Lucky Strike's manufacturing process, addressing the Illuminating Engineering Society, said:

"The essential effect of the Ultra Violet is the production of better tobacco and of cigarettes regarded by virtually all smokers who have tested them as milder and with a lesser tendency to cause throat irritation."

Here in America LUCKY STRIKE is the only cigarette that employs Ultra Violet Rays in connection with its exclusive "TOASTING" Process—the only cigarette that brings you the benefits of the exclusive "TOASTING" Process which expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos.

Thrills Galore in I. C. 4-A Championship

Random reflections on the I. C. A.A.A.9. track and field championships:

If he doesn't break a leg or tire of the track, Frank Wykoff, Southern California's comet, is almost certain to establish a new world mark in the 100-yard dash.

He has run the century twice in :09.6 at Philadelphia and on both occasions was comparatively slow in leaving his pits. . . The day he gets away to a perfect start, some sort record is going to fall. . . . Frank, by the way, talks to his knees while blazing down the straight-away. . . . He says that he keeps saying "Come on knees, get up, get down."

Joe McCluskey's determination in the face of almost overwhelming odds made his victory in the two-mile run the most popular triumph of the meet. . . . After losing almost fifty yards in a bad spill and with cinders all over his hands and face, the stout-hearted Fordham youngster kept running and finally overtook the field as it rounded into the homestretch. . . . All or any of us can fall down but it takes a champion to get up.

Somebody should take Clark Chamberlain, Michigan State's crack two-miler, aside and tell him something about pace. . . . tell him that running your heart out in the first quarter is a highly dubious practice. . . . Clark led the two-mile field by almost half a lap at one stage of the race but wilted near the end.

Experts find little to praise in the hurdling style of Eugene Record of Harvard, but they all admit he's just about the toughest hurdler in the business to beat. . . . Give this red-thatched chap a foot or so lead and church is usually out. . . . Eugene fights every inch of the way. . . . Such pluck pays too, for Gene won his specialty from men more blessed with form and style.

They tried out some new photographic timing process at Philadelphia last week and it worked perfectly. . . . the only hitch is that you must wait until the plates are developed to find out who won. . . . And who wants to wait that long?

Although Ben Eastman, Stanford's bespectacled and scholarly looking quarter and half miler, was beaten in the 440 by Vic Williams, he remains the outstanding prospect of the country. . . . This young man, dubbed "Twenty Grand" by some newspapermen, makes running look mighty easy. . . . And how he does cover ground. . . . He ran the quarter mile in :48.3 and was walking when he crossed the tape. . . .Try to tie that.

The big moment of the meet came on Saturday morning when the usually foppish officials shed their coats and rolled up their sleeves before going to work.

ROYAL YACHT IN TRIM FOR COWES REGETTA

LONDON, June 11 (UP)—With high hopes of increasing her world record of 200 first prizes, King George's yacht, Britannia, has been prepared for the season.

It is expected that the cutter—as she is technically known—will prove faster than ever because she has been converted to the Bermudan rig, popularized among British yacht racers by the New York Club's rules.

Since she was built for King Edward 38 years ago Britannia has had many different rigs. Except that some five years ago Britiannia's bulkwards were heightened and a foot added to her draught, her hull remains as when built.

The King, who, if his health permits, will no doubt take the wheel himself in more than one of the races at Cowes and elsewhere, is greatly interested. He has an expert knowledge of yachting details.

The "new" Britannia will posess the longest mast of any yacht, measuring 175 feet, in fact it is the longest mast ever made in one spar for any vessel. It is constructed of silver spruce, and built up in sections of 40 foot lengths.

VIRGINIA POLYTECHNIC TO TRAIN EVERY STUDENT

BLACKSBURG, Va., June 11 (UP)—H. B. Redd, director of freshmen athletics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute here ,plans to train "every able-bodied male student" for participation in intercollege sports, it has been announced.

Redd has presented his plan to the college administration for approval.

He proposes that specialized training in one or more sports selected by the student be offered under experienced coaches in physical training classes in place of regular freshman gymnasium work. Under the plan, first year students will name their favotite sports upon entering the school, and will be given instruction in these sports two hours each week throughout the season.

WEEKLY NEWSPAPER IS "HERO" OF NEW NOVEL

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 11 (UP)—The Columbia Herald, for years known as "the model small-town weekly" is the "hero" of a new book by Mrs. Walter Williams, wife of the president of the University of Missouri.

Williams edited this paper before leaving newspaper work to become the founder of the Missouri school of journalism. Among newspapermen who received their early training were Eugene Field, Jouett Shouse, Homer Croy, Carl Crow of the Shanghai Evening Post, and Charles G. Ross, Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

McKenzie, now engaged in commercial aviation in the northwest, will be accompanied on his flight by a California aviatrix, it is said.

ATHLETICS DEVELOPING NEW HUMAN RACE

CAMBRIDGE, Miss. June 11—(UP)—A race of lithe, erect and shapley humans, the man taller, heavier and of better proportions, the women taller and more graceful than their predecessors, is being developed through college athletics, according to statistics assembled by Professor E. S. Hooton of Harvard University.

Data gathered from Harvard Wellesley, Vassar, Smith and Mt. Holyoke showed that college sons average 5 feet 10.1 inches in height, one of the tallest groups in the world, and that the average college girl is 5 feet 4.8 inches tall, surpassing her ancestors in all bodily respects except breadth of hips.

Deer Killed in San Mateo County for Year Number 312

State Fish-Game Commission Conducts Study of Deer Hunting

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 11—San Mateo county deer hunters numbering 312 "got their buck" last season. Of these, 30 were successful in bagging the limit of two.

An analysis of the annual bag of 24,132 animals, an increase of 3,910 or 14 per cent over the previous season, has been submitted to Governor Rolph by Daniel H. Blood, director of the state department of natural resources.

Most of the deer killed were taken between the hours of 7 and 10 a. m., the report disclosed. The purpose of the study was to gain an idea of the habits of the hunter instead of the customary data on the animals alone.

"It has always been the belief that most of the deer are killed early in the morning and late in the afternoon, said the report.

"The lowest ebb in the hunting day was found to occur between 12 noon and 3 p. m. The game bag falls off in a direct line from 10 a. m. until noon and then holds the same until 3 p. m. From then on there is a slight rise that lasts until 5 p. m., followed by a falling off for the rest of the hunting day."

Three counties were well above the thousand mark as the scene of deer-bagged activities last season. These were Mendocino with a total of 1,483 deer, Siskiyou with 1,372, and Modoc with 1,128. In several other counties excellent kills were reported.

Los Angeles county hunters bagged a total of 2,362 deer, and increase over the previous season. San Francisco hunters killed 1,091, and Alameda county hunters, 1,252.

Only a small proportion of the successful deer hunters failed to mail in their duplicate tags to the state fish and game commission as required by law, it was reported.

Agriculture in County Valued At $22,928,480

State Surveys Shows 841 Farms in San Mateo County

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 11—Agriculture, with its annual income for the state approaching the billion-dollar mark, continues to be the balance wheel of California business.

There are now 135,677 farms operating in the state, an increase of more than 100,000 since Uncle Sam first started taking his farm census. The gain in the last 10 years has been approximately 18,000 farms, a phenomenal growth.

These figures are taken from the latest Bureau of Census compliations, received by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan. They disclosed that California farmers have a total of more than 3½ billions of dollars invested in their farms and buildings.

San Mateo county now has a total of 841 farms within her boundaries, the reports showed as compared with 624 in 1920. The value of lands and buildings on these farms are estimated at $22,928,480.

"To obtain a mental picture of this tremendous industry," said Jordan, "try to visualize an 8,000,000-acre farm producing 180 different crops, both staples and specialties, for which the consuming world pays annually more than $800,000,000 plus the cost of getting those crops to market.

"Then imagine the impetus the production of these acres gives to industries required to handle, process and distribute these fruits, vegetables, grain crops, and livestock products, bridging the gap between production and consumption. Take a rapid census of the thousands who operate this big farm and add to that figure the other thousands employed in distribution. Then you will have some idea of the 'big business' called agriculture in California."

As the number of farms increase, their size grows smaller, Jordan observed. Fifty years ago, when there was only 35,000 farms in the state, average was 461 acres. Today, with a total of 135,677 farms, the average has dwindled to 225 acres.

"And they're not all producers of foodstuffs," said Jordan. "Look around and you'll find ostrich farms, lion farms, monkey farms, fox farms, aligator farms and frog farms."

COMES BACK

Anna May Wong, after an absence of four years in Europe, has returned to Hollywood to make her debut in talking pictures. The little Chinese girl, born in Los Angeles, stepped from school into pictures, starred in many, then abandoned the films for the legitimate stage in Europe.

Politically Speaking

By HOMER L. ROBERTS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 11—At midnight June 19, all bills not signed by Governor Rolph die by the "pocket veto" route.

From present indications, the governor will probably sign a larger proportion of the 1,315 bills sent him by the legislature, than any of his predecessors. In 1924, Governor Young signed 480 of the 999 bills passed. In 1927 Governor Young signed 898 of 1,107 and in 1929, 891 out of a total of 1,106.

This week Governor Rolph made laws of the following measures passed by both houses:

Creating an oil conservation commission of five members to regulate the oil industry and prorate the production of petroleum.

Prohibiting "town lot" drilling of oil wells.

Providing $173,500 for a teletype communicating system between California cities and the state bureau of criminal indentification, for apprehension of criminals.

Prohibiting chain groceries from forcing competitors out of business by selling commodities at a certain price in one section of the state and a lower price in others.

Creating a new state board of prison terms and paroles, secceeding to many of the functions of the state prison board.

Charles L. Neumiller, now president of the state prison board, will become chairman of the new board, the governor announced. The position will pay $6,000 a year. In his present position, Neumiller receives no salary.

Governor Rolph stole a couple of days away from state business for an outing, and divided his time between hunting mountin lions and fishing. In his party was Rolland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance, who accidentally upset a canoe, giving himself and several other persons a bath in icy cold water.

The governor made a flying trip to Los Angeles, where he ordered a military salute of 17 guns fired in honor of two distinguished visitors, Governor Fred Balzar of Nevada and Governor "Alfalfa Bill' Murray of Oklahoma.

Greeting each other as "Bill" and "Fred" and "Jim," the trio had a great time. They were honored by the Hollywood Native Sons and the Los Angeles Breakfast club. Governor Blazer accepted an invitation to attend a hearing in Sacramento on the proposal to substitute the lethal gas chambers—similar to Nevada's—for the gallows in California.

One more act of clemency was added to a rapidly growing list, when Governor Rolph pardoned P. V. Knowles, former Alameda school teacher, who had served a prison term on a statutory charge. The pardon was given in order to restore the man to citizenship.

Concluding a busy week, the governor appointed Former State Senator Edwin A. Mueller of San Diego as a member of the state board of forestry. He succeeds Robert C. Harbison, San Bernardino publisher who found himself unable to accept the appiontment.

HOLLYWOOD'S FILM SHOP

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 11 (UP)—Residents of Toluca Lake, a picturesque suburb near Hollywood, are becoming quite used to hearing the old tune "On a Bicycle Built for Two" sung lustily on quiet Sunday afternoons or on holidays.

The air is the theme song of an enthusiastic Toluca Lake Bicycle Club, headed by Richard Arlen, young Western star of Paramount. The members include Arlen's wife, Jobyna Ralston; Charles Farrell, Dorothy Lee, Zasu Pitts, Norman McLeod, director, and other young men and women of the neighborhood, who are not in the films.

Arlen explained that he suddenly became filled with a desire to bring to Toluca Lake the sport so popular in England and in eastern sections of the United States. He found no difficulty in obtaining charter members of the club and trim bicycles were purchased.

Weekly races and contests in trick riding are held. The club has been in existence several months and interest has not lagged.

"Aside from the fun of it," Arlen declared, "the health value alone is sufficient reason for riding a bicycle. The exercise is tremendous if the rider goes in for speed. Hips thighs and lower legs are kept in condition. A bicycle rider without lung power is soon left behind."

Arlen said it was his delight—after weeks of training on his bicycle—to persuade some of his athletic friends around the studio to join in one of the club expeditions.

"You should see the expert horsemen and golfers fold up during a spurt," he said. "Most of them last about an hour."

NOTHING'S TOO NICE FOR A BRIDE . . .
that's why her range is ELECTRIC

BRIDES OF TODAY and brides of other days—you can save time for rest and recreation when you cook with electricity.

The electric range with its automatic time and temperature controls does the mechanical work which once kept women watching in the kitchen. But thanks to the electric range, those days are gone forever.

Today a complete meal is placed in the electric oven, say at 1 o'clock—Roast Beef, Browned Potatoes, Green Beans, and Fresh Pineapple Pudding. At 4 o'clock, while you are miles away, the electricity automatically turns on and keeps the oven at an even 400 degrees until 5:30, when the current turns off. The stored heat in the insulated oven keeps the food warm until you return home. Then you serve the meal—hot—and perfectly cooked.

You will also be delighted with the cleanliness of electric cooking. Moreover, the electric range is fast—new cooking elements make it so. Besides that, the cost for electricity is economical—4c worth of electricity, on the average, cooks the dinner for four persons. And the electric range itself costs no more than any other good range.

It's easy to have an electric range in your kitchen—just a few dollars down and a few dollars a month. Come into our office or a dealer's store today and select the model you prefer.

MENLO PARK

The city council met in regular session last Tuesday evening. All members were present.

Lawrence Scudder & Company, accountants, made application to expert the books of the city this year. The concern suggested that the audit be made from June 30, 1930 to July 31, 1931. The firm was given the work, the cost of which was not to exceed the sum of $100. The request was made in a communication signed by Louis T. Diebels, residing in the Coleman tract.

A communication was read from F. J. Furnivall complaining that a protruding branch of a tree on the Dr. Ross property on Santa Cruz avenue nearly wrecked his automobile. He thought the city was responsible and asked relief. The letter was referred to the city attorney for adjustment.

S. D. Natali applied for permission to convert his building on the corner of Santa Cruz avenue and University Drive into a second hand store. The communication was ordered filed.

This being the time set for hearing protests on the Stanford Park assessment the mayor inquired of the clerk if any were filed. There being none the council then by unanimous vote adopted a resolution confirming the assessments as made by the city engineer and dismissing all appeals and overruling all protests.

After the resolution had been passed and adopted several property owners in Stanford Park began to offer protests. The mayor reminded them that the time had passed for such action, that all legal requirements in such matters had been complied with. Mr. and Mrs. Burke, owning a 100 feet on Partridge Way complained that the assessments should have been by the front foot and not by area. City engineer replied that the area system was the modern way and most just manner. He said that Palo Alto had adopted that method some time ago. Mr. Conner declared that he was not notified of the levying of the assessment. He became quite personal when City Attorney Whitworth replied quite warmly, saying that the council followed the proper procedure giving the notice to all property owners by publication and by posting.

Mayor Weeden cut the discussion short by saying that the council had complied with the law in every way and nothing further could or would be done.

Resolution 31-5 was adopted by a unanimous vote. This is known as the weed resolution, giving the council authority to remove weeds on vacant lots for the abatement of nuisances. Notices have been posted on all property having weeds. The council will start today to remove such weeds charging the cost of the work to the land owner.

The city attorney was directed to renew the insurance policies on the two cars owned by the city. The insurance expires at noon on June 12.

The city engineer was authorized to prepare plans and specification for improvements on Johnson and Crane avenues from Santa Cruz avenue to Valparaiso avenue and for Live Oak street from the highway to University Drive.

An amended license ordinance was read by the city attorney and will be adopted at the next meeting. It gives some relief to the city merchants.

Police Commissioner Crane read the monthly report of the chief of police which was as follows: licenses, $32.50; motor vehicle violations, $663.44; money from hall, $25; making a total of $820.94.

The council adjourned to June 23rd.

Judge Lawrence H. Cook, a professor of chemistry at Santa Clara university, maintains a large laboratory on Santa Cruz avenue, near town. It is well equipped with all the modern machinery and appliances that go with such an institution. Mr. Cook is a skillful chemist and is building up a splendid business. He makes a special study of testing soils for farmers and others desiring to know what their lands are best adapted for. Mr. Cook's well tests are also interesting strawberry men and other growers who find their water supply becoming tainted with salt water coming in from the bay. Cook finds the salt seepage and at once determines a remedy. Cook's plant promises to be one of the big industries of this city.

George Bernard Shaw, a cousin of the well known playright and author, will leave in a few days for Kellogg, Idaho to reside. He has lived in Menlo Park for the past six years and is well known here. Mr. Shaw is a veteran of the Canadian Army and receives a pension. He may return to Menlo Park, as he only goes to Idaho to recover his health.

Miss Emily McCarthy, the beautiful and talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. McCarthy of Menlo Park, will graduate with honors from Notre Dame Academy at Belmont on next Wednesday. The young lady takes a prominent part in the graduating exercises of the school. Miss McCarthy will attend college next semester to complete her education.

St. Joseph's Parochial School closed last week with appropriate exercises. A large class of boys and girls graduated, many of whom will attend Sequoia next semester.

Miss Ethel Grayson, a teacher in the San Mateo school department, is here on a visit to her friend, Mrs. J. Cooper.

Bill Bow, a distant relative of Clara Bow, the screen actress, has resigned his position as chief gardener for Dr. Straub, the baseball magnate, who has a palatial home on Valparaiso avenue. A slash of $50 a month in his salary caused Bow to resign. Mr. Bow contemplates traveling in the east before agan returning to work. Many positions have been offered him but he prefers taking a long vacation.

The College of the Sacred Heart closed yesterday for the summer vacation. The graduating class was composed of fourteen young women residing in various parts of the state. After the program was finished the degrees were presented to the graduates by Archbishop Riordan, who delivered an eloquent address to the young ladies complimenting them on the good work they had accomplished and reminding them of the responsibilities they wer assuming as they had reached life's threshold. Among the graduates was Miss Carmel O'Keefe, young daughter of D. E. O'Keefe.

Miss Margaret Roach, a postulant at Corpus Christi monastery for the past year, will be vested with the habit of St. Domnick at an impressive ceremony to be held in the public chapel of the institution this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The public is invited. The head of the Domnican Order is to deliver the address on this occasion. The young woman is to spend the rest of her life behind the gray walls of the cloister.

A good old time minstrel show is coming to Menlo Park, and you can see it at the Central Grammar school, on the highway, on Friday evening, June 19. It will be put on by a troupe of Georgia Ministrels, and in the cast there will be many minstrel men, who in past years held their places on the stage. Among them Fred Rasmussen, Jack Davis, Jack Benson and Dusty Rhodes. Mr. Doxsee will direct the performance.

There will be singing and dancing, lots of good jokes, new and old, a good quartet, songs and recitations by individual members of the cast, and group singing by the entire cast.

Be sure to attend. You will enjoy a fine evening's entertainment. The entire performance is of a high character, and you will be glad to be there. Do not miss this show of shows.

The admission price is fifty cents, and the entertainment is under the auspices of the Menlo Park Masonic Temple Association, which is a guarantee of a fine performance.

Norman Blanchard, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Blanchard, passed away last Thursday following a short illness. Norman was born in Menlo Park seven years ago. He was a bright and cheerful boy, beloved by his playmates and idolized by his fond parents, who will miss the happy smile and joyous footsteps of the playful boy as he romped about the pleasant home of his childhood. Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement. Death is sad at all times but particularly so when in the morning of life it enters the home and robs it of its most precious gift. The maternal grand parents of the boy lived in the community during the days of the Santa Clara Mission.

Joseph McShane, grand trustee of the Natives Sons, has moved to his Atherton home for the summer months. Mr. McShane is one of the well-known attorneys of the San Francisco bar.

Miss Muriel Cunningham, 24, daughter of E. T. Cunningham, millionaire radio tube manufacturer, will be married soon at the Cunningham home at Menlo Park to Herbert Deuel Armstrong, 24, of Santa Cruz. Both are students at the University of California.

On Saturday funeral services were held at the Tinney Funeral Home on Lytton avenue, Palo Alto, for Mrs. Josephine Ancona of Mayfield who was killed in an automobile accident at Las Vegas, Nevada.

ARIZONA CLAN PREPARING FOR SNAKE DANCE

Thrilling Annual Spectacle Will Be Held at Prescott June 14

By GEORGE D. CRISSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PRESCOTT, Ariz., June 11 — A gleaming mass of reptiles writhed in a special pit today as members of the Smoki clan prepared for a thrilling snake dance here June 14 in which priests will use the "little brothers of the underworld" in asking the gods for rain.

Most spectacular of all the unusual ceremonies practiced in Arizona is the rain prayer of the Smoki people and, strangely enough, the principals are white men who have studied and learned much from the Indians.

Once each year the Smoki ceremonial is staged, during which various phases of Indian rituals are produced. There are many weird dances, but the snake dance taken from the snake clan of the Hopi tribe, is the one which gives the spectators cold shivers.

Beating Tom-Toms

Keeping time to the beat of tom-toms, the snake prists start the dance passing in single file around a plaza during which a snake is handed to each, and soon all have them dangling and writhing from their hands and arms.

As the cermony progresses, the chant of other prists and the beat of the drums grow louder and as though by a signal each of the snake priests places the snake he is carrying in his mouth as proof that the snake is indeed his "little brother."

From time to time one snake is dropped and another taken up until finally the snake priests are facing the antelope priests with one or more snakes dangling from hands and arms.

Circle of Cornmeal

Meantime, women of the clan have spread a circle of sacred corn meal on the ground and the priests dance around until a circle about the cornmeal is formed. The two orders of priests, in pairs, circle the cornmeal outline, each grasping a part of the snake of the priest ahead until a chain of snakes and men is formed.

The Smoki people are white citizens of Prescott, business men and women, who have dedicated themselves to the task of perpetuating the ritual, rites and folklore of Indians of the southwest. The first ceremony, given 11 years ago, was presented in a light vein, but those participating became interested until elaborate and faithful reproduction of Indian dances resulted.

Only one concession is made by the Smoki people. Hopi Indian snake dancers use rattlesnakes and, for reasons unknown to white men, are not harmed by the reptiles' poisonous bites. The Smoki people use king snakes which are harmless.

Rattler Kills Cow

SALEM, Ore., June 11—(UP) — Bitten by a rattlesnake, a registered Jersey cow belonging to E. A. Hawk of Turner, died here. Marion county agricultural experts said it was the first case of the kind ever reported to them.

Damage Suit Lasts 18 Years

CINCINNATI, O., (UP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Gohmann sued the town of St. Bernard, near here, for damages in connection with a street improvement in 1913. Three judgments in her favor have been returned in the 18 years since, but she never has collectd a cent because of appeals. The latest judgment in her favor was for $3,030, but Mrs. Gohmann cannot recall the amount sought in the original suit.

BRICKS TO TELL HISTORY OF UR

LONDON, June 11 (UP)—Four thousand years ago in the desert near Bagdad flourished the great city of Ur of the Chaldees, with its shops, schools and manners of life that have formed the basis of modern civilization.

Now, experts are to take a census of this Eastern metropolis, which like many another capital, declined and fell to be left derelict in the burning desert.

In the cellars of the British Museum workmen are unpacking 30 large cases which Leonard Woolley, the archaeologist, has brought back from Ur. They are full mostly, of clay bricks inscribed with cuneiform writings which tell of ordinary happenings in Ur 4,000 years ago.

"There are schoolbooks, tradesmen's accounts, love-letters, and all kinds of writings," Woolley said.

"From them I hope to find who lived in each house, what they did for a living, and, in fact, to make a complete directory of the city, dating from about the time of its final desertion 2,000 B. C.

"In an old school kept by a priest we found 2,000 inscribed tablets, largely schoolbooks which the master had kept by him."

In another house Woolley found that the owner was a grain merchant, a money lender and a dealer in ready-made clothing.

WOLF BOUNTY $50

PORTLAND, Ore., (UP)—Apparently the howl of the timber wolf still is heard in Oregon forests. Since October the hides of a dozen wolves have been received by the State Game Commission for bounty payments. Hunters make about $50 on each kill, which includs a bounty of $25 from the state, $5 to $10 each from the county where the kill is made, and sale of the hids from $10 to $25 each to fur buyers.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.
